School Starts Tuesday

This 2017-18 school year will begin with Mass on Tuesday at 9:00 a.m. You are invited to come and pray for and with the students and families of OLG. Mr. Anton Kramer, our new principal, will lead our diverse and skilled faculty into this new academic year. As we pray for our Catholic schools, it is also a time to be grateful for teachers in every school in our city. What a challenging and rewarding vocation! Thank you teachers.

Providence Jubilee

On September 9th, our parish will host the Providence sisters Jubilee celebration in our church and the Walmesley Center. Sisters who are celebrating 25, 50, and 75 years of committed religious life will gather with family and friends to honor and thank God for these woman of faith and service.

Our parish is particularly blessed with the presence of so many Providence sisters in our community of faith. Their presence and active participation in the Eucharist is a powerful witness to the Providence sisters. Congratulations sisters.

Houston Floods

The unbelievable sights of the flooding in Texas, while tragic in obvious ways, is providing a sparkling example of what our nation can do when we put aside the divisions that are also so evident. My cousin Mark, who lives in Houston, was describing the rescue and evacuation work being done neighbor to neighbor and stranger with stranger.

As we hear from the Archdioceses the best way to reach out to these victims, we will make those channels available to you. I am encouraging all of us to help during this national disaster and rebuilding efforts.

A Thought

What we love shapes who we are, who we love shapes who we become.
